Success Article of the Week

Dream Torture by Denis Waitley

Perhaps the greatest torture that could be devised would be for us to be forced, in our later years, to watch a continuously repeating movie of the lives we could have led had we dared to believe in and pursue the dreams and goals that were available and attainable in our lifetimes.

DON'T BE A SPECTATOR

While we all say we don't have enough time to do justice to our goals and dreams, each of us has all the time there is. None of us really has a time-management problem. We really have a dream- and goal-focus problem. We spend too much energy worrying about the things we want to do but can't, instead of concentrating on doing the things we can do but don't it is the regret for something we did or didn't do yesterday and the apprehension of what we can't do tomorrow that is the biggest energy drain on our lives.

A dream is your creative vision for your life in the future. It is what you would like your life to become. A goal is what, specifically, you intend to make happen. However, many individuals become spectators, resigned to experience success vicariously through others' accomplishments. They can see success for others, but they can't imagine it for themselves. Dreams and goals are previews of coming attractions in your life. You can be the script writer, the star, and the producer of an Oscar-winning epic life or an extra in a "B" movie that someone else wrote and directed for you. Which is it to be?

STAY FOCUSED ON YOU

Make certain that your goals are not measured in comparison with others'. Avoid the tendency to measure your own progress by looking over the fence at greener pastures. There are many others who have started a little earlier than you, and you may become discouraged if you see them harvesting success when some of your seeds are barely in the ground. Comparison rarely benefits anyone. You'll always be able to find someone smarter, younger, older, wiser, richer, more clever, better looking, or working harder or more effectively than you are.

When you make comparisons in which you place yourself beneath others, you're in for a discouragement that will keep you procrastinating and perhaps even from seriously pursuing your life goals. You can also find others who don't measure up to what you have become or are aspiring to be. Avoid the tendency to compare yourself with them as well. You will lower your goals and settle for average when you could have excellence. You may come to think that you deserve more success than others or that success lies ahead for you no matter what you do. Both are false assumptions.

Celebrations!

Success isn't a pie with a limited number of pieces. The success of others has very little bearing on your own success. You and everyone you know can become successful without anyone suffering setbacks, harm, or downturns. Neither is your success measured by what others say or accomplish. Only you can truly define your success, and only you can measure it.

Tupperware Fundraiser for CA Wildfire!

Join Tupperware in providing California wildfire assistance!

As of Friday, October 26th, the Southern California wildfires have covered nearly 800 square miles—half the size of Rhode Island—and destroyed some 1,800 homes. Close to 1 million people have been displaced with some 350,000 homes evacuated. The damages have already exceeded one billion dollars.

Now, when situations like this occur, great people and great companies come together and step up to help. And since Tupperware is a company that's committed not only to changing lives, but to supporting the communities we live in and helping those in need, we are taking action immediately to provide assistance – and we're creating an opportunity for you to join us in these efforts.

First, because we know you and your customers will be looking for ways to help, we've included among the new consumer offers being announced this week the Heart Sandwich Keeper. Between now and November 16th, we'll be donating 100% of the profits from every Heart Sandwich Keeper you sell to disaster relief.

We're making it our goal to raise $100,000 through the sales of the Heart Sandwich Keeper during the next 3 weeks. We're calling on you to offer this opportunity at every one of your parties. You'll even be able to track the amount of money raised on Tupperware.com throughout this fundraising period.

Also, because we have many sales force members who live in the affected areas and want to help them as quickly as possible, please call our Platinum desk at 800-437-7001 if you or anyone on your team has been affected. Our Platinum representatives will be taking down this information, and through the Tupperware Children's Foundation, we will provide emergency relief grants to those who've lost their homes, been displaced, or have other special needs due to the wildfires.

Additionally, because we want to do all we can to provide further assistance to Southern California residents, we'll be working with the American Red Cross to distribute family care packages. These will contain essential products that will help make things just a little better for those affected as they begin to rebuild.

We invite you to join us in stepping up and showing that Tupperware cares. Let's raise that $100,000!
